

To: Wester, Barbara[wester.barbara@epa.gov]
From: Above the Fold
Sent: Mon 3/19/2018 12:04:25 PM
Subject: Top environment and health news for 03/19/2018

Hand-picked daily by editors at EHN.org

View this email in your browser

Environmental Health News

Journalism that drives the discussion

Feds reject Michigan permit for mine near sensitive tribal waters

ehn.org

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has objected to a wetland permit for the proposed Back Forty Mine in Michigan's western Upper P...

Read More

This USDA lab is turning billions of pounds of almond waste into beer, plastic, and power

fastcompany.com

The country's growing almond habit means that there are lots of shells and hulls to put to good use. These government scientists are work...

Read More

A battery recycling plant owned by Indian businessmen caused a lead poisoning crisis in Kenya

qz.com

A car battery recycling plant poisoned scores of children. For Phyllis Omido, exposing them meant risking her life.

Read More

Minden, WV, residents share frustrations, heartache at weekend public hearings

wvmetronews.com

"Welcome to Toxic Town" reads one of several handmade signs as you enter the Fayette County town of Minden.

Read More

More Maine towns making transition to life without plastic bags

bangordailynews.com

Even some proponents of plastic bag bans said that the speedy pace of communities adopting ordinances in Maine is surprising to them.

Read More

As floods rise in Bangladesh, crab farming helps families tread water

trust.org

With both rice and shrimp increasingly difficult to raise, southern Bangladesh farmers are turning to a new crop.

Read More

New plant shows brighter future for Maine lobster

pressherald.com

A traditional industry can benefit just as much from R&D spending as a high-tech startup.

Read More

Mountain pine beetles are devastating forests in the worst outbreak ever

nationalgeographic.com

Despite being smaller than a grain of rice, mountain pine beetles are causing big problems for pine forests across North America.

Read More

Florida, the salmon state? New salmon-raising facility might make that true

miamiherald.com

Atlantic Sapphire is building a huge aquaculture facility to hatch, grow and process Atlantic Salmon near Homestead.

Read More

Offshore oil and gas operators want less regulation, but surprise inspections find serious safety problems

nytimes.com

Interior Department inspectors visited 40 platforms and drilling rigs in the Gulf of Mexico last week after an alert about “potentially c...

Read More

China plans tougher goals, beefed-up inspections in war on smog

reuters.com

China will set more stringent targets for improving the nation's air quality under a new three-year plan, as Beijing prepares to beef up a ...

Read More

Pruitt huddled with coal exec who raised over $1M for Trump

politico.com

EPA has fought requests for Pruitt's schedules, releasing them only when forced by lawsuits by environmental or government transparency o...

Read More

A running list of how Trump is changing the environment

nationalgeographic.com

The Trump administration has promised vast changes to U.S. science and environmental policy - and we're tracking them here as they happen...

Read More

Australian wildfires destroy homes, kill cattle as hundreds of people flee

reuters.com

Australian authorities urged people to remain alert on Monday as wildfires that have destroyed homes, killed cattle and forced hundreds of ...

Read More

Scientists on brink of overcoming livestock diseases through gene editing

theguardian.com

Breeders will soon be able to produce animals that are immune to disease, says UK's top animal scientist.

Read More

Journalism drives the discussion

*Hungry for more? See our curated opinions and editorials.
And spend time with our original reporting.*

Copyright © 2018 Environmental Health Sciences. All rights reserved.

Want to change how you receive these emails?

You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from all our newsletters.

